

Bellevue is unique in that it is a town of contrast. Students find themselves with the opportunity to look back on yesterday as well as forward to tomorrow. Such a structure as the oldest church in Nebraska is a physical reminder of the spirit of the pioneers, while Strategic Air Command Headquarters, the core of modern Free World defense, serves as an inspiration for future progress.

Similarly, the tradition of Bellevue High School is in direct contrast to the modern educational facilities and up-to-date teaching methods employed today at BHS. Just as the victory bell, purple and white and the school song emphasize the tradition that is so much a part of BHS, the modern Resource Center and classroom televisions are important indications that Bellevue High School is progressing.

Tradition is a vital part of Bellevue High School because it gives students a sense of continuity and pride in their school. However, only progress can insure the best education possible in a rapidly changing world.

Seniors Honor Gepson With '65 Chieftain Dedication

The Senior Class proudly dedicates the 1965 Chieftain to Mr. James W. Gepson in recognition of his many worthwhile contributions to Bellevue High School and its students. As a teacher Mr. Gepson enjoys the give and take of classroom discussion and is capable of making his subject matter come alive for students. His enthusiasm for political and economic discussion encourages stimulating classroom arguments over controversial subjects.

Debate has consumed a large portion of Mr. Gepson's three years at Bellevue High School. In addition to teaching various phases of the subject he also sponsors the Debate Club.

Mr. Gepson has a Bachelors Degree from Omaha University and is currently working toward his Masters Degree. Mr. Gepson is vastly interested in news and world affairs, and his concern for political and economic problems has established him as the "Teachers' Lounge Politician."

According to his fellow teachers, Mr. Gepson is a pipe smoker and an avid reader. His favorite reading material includes such topics as contemporary politics, economics and philosophy.

Presenting the national debate topic in an interesting manner is not a problem for Mr. Gepson.

American government was a challenge that seniors met and overcame with the help of Mr. Gepson.

Using a captivating style of teaching Mr. Gepson completely maintains the attention of his students.

Bellevue High School is not a single unit, but rather a composite . . . the sum total of countless individual elements combining to produce the whole.

Due to a constant turnover of students, new experiences, opinions and personalities flow continually into BHS, bringing with them the opportunity for a greater understanding of a complex world. In this way, each student contributes something of himself to the intricately-woven, ever-changing design of BHS.

Because Bellevue High School is constantly growing and developing, it is unique in many ways. Such unceasing change makes each year, each month, each week, each day at Bellevue different from the last.

In a school long known for high-quality students as well as instructors, scholastic excellence is of utmost importance. The emphasis placed on learning is evident in the huge proportion of students whose high grades make them eligible for honor roll.

Modern facilities are continually being expanded to maintain the high standards Bellevue High School is known for. An important factor in the success of BHS is opportunity — the opportunity for advanced high school training provided by a wide variety of subjects offered to all. College counseling and preparatory courses enable BHS students to enter colleges all over the United States with the confidence and assurance that comes with knowledge.

Few schools and communities can boast of the close relationship that is traditional with Bellevue High School and the city of Bellevue. School spirit is generated not only by the students themselves, but also by the citizens of Bellevue who actively support school projects. Such close cooperation has become an integral part of BHS.

There are many ways in which civic-minded adults support Bellevue High School. Not only are they present at school plays and concerts, but they are also very much in evidence at a great number of athletic events. A large crowd at a game, especially during a less-than-perfect season, boosts morale and shows the team that the community as well as the school is still behind them.

All-out community backing for a high school is particularly unique in a town where 75 per cent of the high school population is composed of Air Force dependents. These students bring with them to Bellevue ideas and talents acquired all over the United States and various other countries as well.

As a result of widely varying backgrounds and interests, Bellevue High School's students represent a cross-section of the nation as a whole.

"An exploding school population necessitated an enlarged curriculum providing more varied fields of study and broader opportunities in those already established.

Students exhibiting qualities of character, leadership, citizenship and scholarship received more privileges, responsibility and recognition than ever before. The school's function as an educating tool took on the added responsibility of leading each student toward the field best suiting his interests and abilities."

Board of Education Decides Bellevue's School Policy

Making plans and decisions for the Bellevue Public School System is the job of the six members of the Board of Education. These elected officials, who meet the first Monday of every month, work without pay to help improve the educational opportunities of this growing community.

Providing the framework for education is the main purpose of the Board. The Board is responsible for providing school buildings, finding the money to run the school system and setting up the rules by which the schools are operated. It is also the duty of the Board to decide how all the money in the school system is to be spent.

Members are elected by the people of the community to serve terms of three years each. Two members are elected each year. Because it takes three years to change the entire Board, there is a certain consistency from year to year.

Plans for this year included the use of educational television in the classroom. Because an attempt was made to complete the building program started in other years no new building projects were started this year.

Dr. H. Edwin Cramer, superintendent of schools, implements the decisions of the Board and is responsible to the Board for all Bellevue schools.

Wake Robin, a new elementary school on Mission Road, is one of the accomplishments of the Board.

Administration Reaches Toward Higher Achievements

Members of the administration are constantly seeking and achieving goals for the improvement of Bellevue High School. "This is accomplished by their joint endeavors to further better education at BHS," explained Dr. H. Edwin Cramer, superintendent of schools.

Among the goals attained this year at BHS were a new language lab and reading improvement plus English linguistic courses.

At weekly meetings during the year, the administration discussed ways to better the school system. Team teaching and the use of television in the classroom are two of the future plans.

Wide experience is one of the assets of BHS administrators. Dr. Cramer, who received the Harlan Lewis Civic Award, in October, has been superintendent for 10 years. Mr. Wayne M. Brower serves as assistant superintendent.

Mr. Lloyd H. Boilesen has served as BHS principal for nine years. His duties vary from counseling students and enforcing rules to such things as giving pep rally speeches.

Mr. George W. Bailey, director of curriculum, handled all the new text books, while Herman P. Freel served as business manager.

Smoothly-Running High School is Goal of BHS Staff

Secretaries

The ability of the school staff to work together harmoniously determines their success or failure in efficiently carrying out the many daily tasks confronting them.

Faculty enlargements and new students meant round-the-clock labor for office employees, custodians and contractors during the summer as well as the school year.

Completion of paper work, typing, filing and various other jobs occupied the office staff, composed of three secretaries and several student employees. Other phases of the job included keeping an accurate account of all club money, filling out transfers for departing students, recording final student grades and recording student absences, in addition to supplying adequate answers to satisfy the questions of students and teachers.

Cafeteria workers were occupied with the preparation of sandwiches and the organization of enough food to satisfy the appetites of hungry students and teachers.

The preservation of cleanliness at Bellevue, both indoors and out, was the daily task of five regular custodians and hired help from the student body.

Counselors Assist Students Throughout School Year

During the year the counselors of Bellevue High School registered approximately 1,350 students while at the same time helping them to select appropriate courses.

Administering the Nebraska Regents Exam to seniors and registering them for the ACT and SAT tests were just a few of the counselors' many duties. In addition, the PSAT test was given to both seniors and juniors. The National Merit Exam and the Sequential Tests of Educational Progress were also given to juniors.

Sophomores took both the Otis IQ and the School and College Ability Test under the direction of the counselors. As the test scores were returned each student was invited to the counselors' office to discuss and interpret the results.

Preparing next year's schedule with the underclassmen and selecting their new courses occupied much of the counselors' time. Processing the large number of applications for Bellevue seniors who plan to attend colleges all over the nation next fall was another important task.

Training beyond high school, other than college was explored during the year. Several occupational days were attended by both parents and students to hear various guest speakers. Aptitude tests for such things as business machines were given to interested students.

Learning to know BHS students as individuals, each with his own personality and needs, was one of the most difficult jobs for the counselors again this year.

English Teachers Stress Composition and Further Study

Bellevue High School's English Department offers students an opportunity to develop their skills in this subject.

Teachers emphasized the development of writing techniques and the ability to reason and coordinate ideas. By requiring two term papers during the high school years and 15 major themes per year, the department encouraged the student to develop his ideas through organized research.

The publication of The Image, a booklet composed of literary works submitted by BHS students, is sponsored by the English Department. The purpose of this yearly magazine is to stimulate student interest in creative writing.

Preparing students for college entrance exams and future study in colleges and universities was the goal of the department. Courses were designed to give students a look at various problems which might arise in advanced English studies, and to help them meet these challenges intelligently.

Debaters Argue Nuclear-Weapon-Control Controversy

As part of the Greater Omaha League of Debaters, Bellevue High School debaters discussed with other members of the League the national topic, resolved that: Nuclear Weapons Should Be Controlled by an International Organization.

Although debate is actively participated in at BHS, it has been only in recent years that the school has had a debate team.

The year 1957 brought debate to BHS as an after-school activity. After four years of continuous progress, the first formal debate class was organized in 1961. In contrast to the early debaters who took few trips during the school year, this year's squad travelled to Kansas, Iowa and Minnesota.

Bellevue's three debate teachers each teach a specific area of the course. Mrs. Joan Jensen teaches advanced debate techniques and case construction, while Mr. James W. Gopson is in charge of logic and evidence. Mr. Kenneth D. Liedle conducts classes in organization, speech and grammar.

Senior Kathy Hoster captures the attention of her classmates as she discusses this year's issues.

Reading Improvement Classes Latest Addition to BHS

This year for the first time, reading improvement classes were conducted for Bellevue High School students. Early in the year, reading ability tests were administered to students during their English classes, to determine the need for the reading improvement program.

The five students who were identified as needing the reading improvement program were placed in the English classes where they were conducted to help students bring sub-standard reading levels up.

Equipment used in the program included the controlled reader machines, special reading materials and other aids. The courses were geared to individual needs, and classes were divided into work groups on that basis.

Mr. Carl Spencer acted as program director for the voluntary classes which were held before, after and during school, and lasted for ten weeks.

Students taking reading use a pair of headphones connected to tape recorder for text listening.

Columbia University Press ranked the 64 year book as "First Class," which corresponds to an "All-American" rating by the NSPA.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Sue-Ann Hodge, beginning journalists earned the basic technique of writing for publication, while the advanced students published the Tom Tom, Chieftain and Parents' Supplement.

After completing seven months of preliminary study in Journalism I students assumed staff positions on the Tom Tom with the April Fools' edition. Throughout the year they wrote copy for the yearbook and paper as part of their classroom training. Further preparation for advanced students consisted of attending workshops at various colleges and universities within the state.

Receiving Nebraska High School Press Association Silver Keys for their work were Betty Hames, for yearbook layout, and Mike McKissick, for advertising. Bob Ginn took second place for newspaper layout. Other honors were awarded at Nebraska, Creighton, Omaha and Northwestern Universities.

Whatever the situation, the staff always finds a way to get the job done.

Assortment of Mathematics Courses Offered Students

Mathematics courses were offered in a wide variety to Bellevue High School students.

BHS's math program includes five courses. General math is a course designed to acquaint students with the basic principles of the science of mathematics. Geometry, an orderly series of statements about points, lines, planes, and plane and solid figures, is the science of space.

Algebra is generalized arithmetic in which numbers are often represented by letters. Algebra I explores the fundamentals of this principle, while Algebra II goes into far greater detail. Advanced math, dealing mainly with trigonometry and analytical geometry, is a continuation of the Algebra II course.

Students wishing to take Algebra II must have completed Algebra I and geometry, and those wanting to take advanced math must have had Algebra II.

Because BHS has a large supply of math teachers, they can give their students more individual attention and help with the often-confusing aspects of this science.

Bellevue High School's Science Department offered a wide variety of courses, including Biology I and II, physical science, chemistry and Physical Science Study Committee Physics.

Advanced biology, offered for the second year was a relatively new course. To be admitted to this class, students were required to have taken chemistry and to have maintained a two average or better in Biology I. Biology II involved a more detailed study of the subjects covered in Biology I, including a semester's work on human anatomy and physiology.

Physical science, a study of elementary physics and chemistry, served as an introduction to more advanced courses.

Chemistry students studied the elements as well as basic chemistry principles.

Physical Science Study Committee Physics was a special course designed to prompt students to think for themselves and find their own original solutions to problems.

For the first time at BHS all science students were required to complete a science project. These projects involved independent research to solve a problem. The projects were exhibited at the annual Science Fair, held in the gym in April.

Advanced French classes studied the history and literature of France, and were given the opportunity to become more familiar with France by corresponding with French students studying English.

Advanced Spanish students reviewed the basic language skills through the use of tape recordings, films and slides. An intensive study of Spanish and Latin American literature was included in the course.

Home Economics Students Develop Useful Techniques

Assisting students in developing all phases of homemaking skills was the primary concern of the Home Economics Department this year. Emphasis was also placed on the proper understanding of habits, attitudes and ideals required in home and family life.

The major points of emphasis for sophomores and juniors were home management, child guidance, nutrition, personal appearance, human relations, textiles and health. The course for seniors was planned to round out previous homemaking instruction and provide an opportunity for homemaking as a career.

Many varied projects were undertaken by home economics students throughout the year. A week-long nursery school was held by first-year students for the children of faculty members. In preparation the girls visited active day schools in the area to gain first-hand knowledge on child care.

Other activities included a tea for the mothers of the faculty members and a buffet for the parents and their wives. The girls displayed their newly acquired dressmaking techniques to their mothers at a spring style show.

The home economics rooms contained modern and complete kitchen and laundry units which helped to make class activities realistic and enjoyable for the students. Aided by their up-to-date equipment, the girls learned helpful homemaking techniques throughout the year.

Modern Equipment Aids Business Education Department

Student enrollment in Bellevue High School's Business Education Department reached a new high this year.

A combination of qualified instructors and such modern equipment as electric typewriters and adding and dictating machines resulted in increased benefits to students in all aspects of commercial study.

General business, a background course for advanced commercial study, provided a basic knowledge of business practices and techniques. Follow up courses included secretarial practice and clerical practice, offered to juniors and seniors only. Clerical practice taught office and filing procedures and the operation of business machines.

Other classes offered by the department included Business English, bookkeeping, personal use typing, Typing I and II and Shorthand I and II.

The purpose of the Business Education Department was three-fold: to instruct students in basic skills for their own use, to provide vocational training for students seeking employment and to serve as preparatory training for students planning to major in business administration in college.

Art Students Instructed in Appreciation and History

A student caught in a moment of study studies a fellow artists work

Art students at Bellevue High School gained knowledge of art through an emphasis on experience rather than the use of textbooks.

First year students were instructed in art appreciation and history, color, theory, design and free hand drawings. Art II was a continuation of Art I, but involved a more detailed study of the various areas covered.

Advanced art students made contributions to the school throughout the year. In addition to making posters for many occasions and helping with sets for dramatic productions, they were responsible for creating the holiday scenes that decorated the school at Christmastime.

Artist-of-the-month displays were new to BHS this year. Each month various works of an outstanding art student were exhibited in display cases throughout the school.

Advanced art students participated in such competitions as the Scholastic Magazine Painting Contest, the Nebraska State Fair Contest and several local programs. They also took field trips to various museums and places of interest in the Omaha area, including the Joslyn Art Museum.

Speech-Drama Develops Acting and Speaking Talents

Bellevue High School speech and drama students studied a variety of subjects throughout the year including speech and drama technique, improvisation, set construction and stage craft. Supplementing classroom study, long hours were spent working on many of the activities which were sponsored by the department.

One-act plays were staged throughout the year to supply both actors and stage crew with further opportunities to display their talents. The fall and spring productions, which drew full houses, were important events to speech-drama students.

Speech contests were entered during the year with students participating in extemporaneous speaking and oral interpretation. One such contest was held at Nebraska Wesleyan during the fall. The spring speech-drama students took part in the Fine Arts Festival as in previous years. The festival was held at Central High School in February.

First-year students of electrical shop broadened their understanding of the principles of the basic electrical theory. The primary purpose of Electrical Shop II was to cover the fundamental principles of the operation of electron tubes and semi-conductors.

Basic procedures and skills necessary to plan design and construct projects were taught in the crafts program.

Beginning mechanical drawing students learned the fundamental techniques, skills, symbols and interpretation of drawing. Mechanical Drawing II gave students a closer look at industrial drafting and architectural drawing.

New equipment designed to give students a deeper understanding of driving and its problems was introduced at Bellevue High School.

Physio-physical training devices were made available to students to test depth perception, field of vision, steadiness and reaction time. Students received these tests to aid them in learning the art of safe driving and to help them on the highway.

Resource Center Accommodates Students and Teachers

Students discover the value of the library while they look for more information.

Again this year the library and materials center were combined into the resource center.

Heading the department were Mr. Louis Worm, Bellevue High School Librarian, and Mr. Jerry Ludwig, who was in charge of the overhead audio-visual machines.

Nearly-four hundred books, encyclopedias and reference books, as well as magazines, in the BHS library were available to students and teachers alike throughout the year.

The library boasted books in such fields as history, language, natural science, art, math, politics and literature. Students also had fiction, short-story collections and biographies at their disposal. Approximately 400 new books and 130 magazines were added to the library this year.

The materials center provided a workshop for both students and teachers. In the materials center students had access to such items as tapes, tape recorders and record players, while teachers were able to use duplicating machines and other office equipment.

New to the Bellevue school system this year was Mr. John Kucer, the instructional materials coordinator for the junior and senior high schools.

Vocal Music Department Provides Songs for Many Events

Bellevue High School's 91 member chorus sang for the Nebraska State Teachers Convention in October, presenting a program called "Choral Contrasts."

Twelve Chorus members who attended the State Music Clinic held at Hastings, Nebraska, were Cathy Arnold, Doug Barrett, Mike Fortner, Ramona Grubb, Bill Mans'ito, Larry Neal, Harriet Owen, Bill Regier, Mary Lou Ribble, Carol Stadheim, Judy Thompson and Bob Weaver.

Christmas vacation began with the "Christmas Choral Concert," directed by Mr. Allen Barnard.

Work then began on the spring musical "Li. Abner," which depicts life in Dogpatch, U.S.A.

The 51 sophomore members of the Girls' Glee sang at Baccalaureate and at the Christmas Chorus program.

A Boys' Chorus, consisting of the 40 boys in the Chorus, was started by Mr. Barnard this year to encourage incoming sophomores to join the organization.

Traditional choral selections supplied part of the presentation at the Baccalaureate and Commencement ceremonies. Graduating seniors sang Hail the Purple—the alma mater song.

Chieftain Band, Majorettes Provide Halftime Shows

Under the leadership of Mr. Charles Sargent the Chieftain Band provided halftime entertainment at all home football games this year.

Five majorettes, directed by Senior Karir Mathews, attended the games as part of the band. The girls' drill team, the Bellevedettes, also marched to tunes played by the band. The band and majorettes perfected their drills at early-morning rehearsals throughout the school year.

Concert Band began at the end of the school year. In addition to the Winter Concert, the Concert Band also participated in the District Music Contest.

Several Chieftain Band members were selected as the musicians from the state who attended training for the woodwind section of the Nebraska Music Educators' Band in Lincoln in October.

The Pep Band, a small group of band members organized for the purpose of stimulating school spirit, attended games as a group when not required to play with the band.

A pot-luck dinner in October was the result of the combined efforts of band members and their families to produce an evening of eating and entertainment.

Band members were excused from classes to attend an annual clinic in preparation for the District Music Contest, held in the Little Theatre in April. They also attended a banquet in May at which awards were given and a new drum major selected.

Physical Education Elective For First Year

This year for the first time in Bellevue High School an organized physical education program became effective. Facilities consisting of a new two gymnasium building, the main gym, and new equipment. Although the course was an elective for juniors and seniors, sophomores were required to participate.

Team sports such as basketball, volleyball, speedball and softball were introduced in the gym classes. Sophomores took weight training and track and field. Both boys and girls were active in tumbling and gymnastics.

and

The individual was emphasized in the senior and junior P.E. classes. Sports as bowling, chess, and pool. Other activities learned throughout the year included some team sports such as speedball, volleyball and basketball.

Tenth graders took P.E. three times a week while the eleventh and twelfth graders attended P.E. twice a week. A total of 460 sophomores and 90 juniors and seniors enrolled in the physical education course.

Activities

A school would be no more than an enormous machine if its only purpose were to teach. This is not the case at Bellevue, where one of the most valued aspects of our school is its exceptional program of extra-curricular activities. The enterprising student is able to gain pleasurable and informative experience in a wide variety of activities, both academic and athletic.

The knowledge we gain outside of the classroom is every bit as important as our formal education and all will agree that our extra-curricular activities help to mold the personalities of those who make Bellevue the best high school in Nebraska.

Assemblies and Plans Patio

Revising the Student Council constitution was a big job for the Student Council this year. A major change was that the homeroom representatives volunteered their services rather than being nominated.

The Student Council Executive Board, consisting of the presidents of all organized clubs and officers and the officers of the Student Council, held meetings to compare constitutions in general in order to gain better representation of the student body.

Led by President Doug Johnson and sponsored by Mr. James Gepson and Mr. Pete Karabatsos, the Council made plans to complete the student patio by September of 1965.

The Council also sponsored extra-curricular activities, starting early in the year with a dance after the football game with B. H. S. High School for students of both schools.

The annual Homecoming week and the American Field Service candy bar sale to raise money for the foreign exchange students program were both sponsored by the Student Council.

The first annual Better BHS Week was introduced January 4 with an assembly and skits in an attempt to acquaint students with various school problems.

Student Council representatives sold book covers and Chiffon decal to raise money for the Student Hall of Fame to be located in the gymnasium.

National Honor Society Members Selected by Faculty

Officer

Officers
Joan Butler treasurer; Char Salmen secretary
Suggs vice president; Mike Williams president

Leadership, scholarship, service and character are the basis for selection of members for the National Honor Society.

Sponsored by Mr. Louis Worm, the Arrowhead Chapter of NHS is composed of active members, who are seniors, and probationary members, who are juniors. To become a member, a student must be in the upper third of his class. He is then judged by the faculty, and a limited number of selections are made.

Probationary members become active members at the end of their junior year, if they have kept the standards of the organization.

The society was granted its charter in 1940 by the National Association of Secondary School Principals. This year, a committee was organized to find a prominent location in the school to place the charter. Another first this year was the decision of NHS members to sponsor a project during American Education Week.

An attempt to organize a special study hall for honor students was another project this year for NHS members. The study hall would operate on the honor system and would have no teacher-supervision, and the size and atmosphere would be more conducive to studying. The idea was submitted to the administration for their approval.

Quill & Scroll Members Meet New Club Requirements

This year marked a change in membership requirements for Quill and Scroll, an international honor society for high school journalists.

To be considered for membership, journalism students were required to show an accumulation of 50 Quill and Scroll points, earned by helping with the school publications and by writing for other publications, such as the Omaha World-Herald, South Omaha Sun and Bellevue Press. Points were awarded on an hourly basis for work on various club projects, including the sale of Chieftains and Quill and Scroll stationery.

It was also required that members maintain a two average in journalism and rank in the upper third of their class. A banquet was held each semester for the initiation of new members. The initiations, as well as all other club activities, were sponsored by Mrs. Sue-Ann Hodge, journalism adviser.

In addition to the sale of school stationery, the club also conducted the Paper Doll Ball, an annual signing party held on the day the 1965 Chieftain was distributed.

Quill and Scroll member Judy Mahar, who graduated from Bellevue High School in 1964, was awarded a $500 Edward J. Nell Memorial Scholarship by the Quill and Scroll Foundation last year. Judy was one of eight high school students in the nation to receive the two-year scholarship.

Bill Mansito Tries "American Way" as AFS Delegate

For Foreign Exchange Student Bill Mansito, the school year introduced activity-filled days, homework-crammed nights and the 28-minute lunch period!

Living in Bilbao, Spain, Bill's family is much like its American counterpart, the R. H. Strubles. Like the Strubles, Bill's family has three boys, of whom he is the middle man. Roger Struble was Bill's only American brother living at home. Mrs. Ruth Struble is a French teacher at Bellevue High School while Mr. Raymond Struble is a colonel in the Air Force.

As a member of the Senior Executive Board of the Student Council, Bill received an insight into the workings of an American high school. French Club and intramural sports provided an added taste of a student's life in America.

When asked the inevitable question, "what do you think of American life?", Bill contemplated brightly, "Well, you know, it is not so different. It is very much like in my own town."

Caroling and Folk-Dancing Fill German Club Schedule

Bellevue High School German club members, supervised by Mr. Anthony Schreyer, have planned a busy schedule this year. At the regular meetings, they have been singing, dancing, and playing games.

At the November meeting, the club members sang the German Christmas carols, and the club members played the game of Schach.

During the Christmas season, the club members will be singing the German Christmas carols, and the club members will be playing the game of Schach. They, and the other members of the club, will be singing and dancing at the Christmas party.

Latin Club Participates in Tournament and Banquets

The extended knowledge and appreciation of Roman history and culture was the purpose of the Belvedere High School Latin Club, sponsored by Mr. Robert M. Allen.

This year membership in the club totaled 41 members. As in the past, the club was restricted to students formerly enrolled in a foreign language course who were presently taking the course.

The events for the 1964-65 school year were the Language Club Banquet, the Language Clubs Volleyball Tournament, Latin Club Banquet and the Junior Classical League Convention.

At the Language Clubs Banquet, each one of the student organizations was represented by a representative who gave a short presentation.

Following the presentation, the evening program was a musical performance by the Belvedere High School Chorus.

Spanish Club Scrapbook Records Year's Activities

Spanish Club members this year began a new tradition by keeping a scrapbook to record club activities. Such projects as shipping donated clothing to an orphanage near Madrid, Spain were entered in the scrapbook.

As another first, Spanish Club meetings were highlighted by films purchased with profits from taco sales and a chili feed held during the spring for the entire school.

Spanish Club members also participated in the Big Four Banquet in November. Decorating their section of the cafeteria, members appropriately used fishing nets, peppers and guitars.

At least once a month, the club held a general meeting to inform members of Spanish culture, literature and environment.

Miss Ruth Ann Sawyer presided the club which was open to anyone who has taken Spanish or was currently enrolled in the course.

Les Jeunes Jolies Send Packages to French Orphanage

Les Jeunes Jolies, which is open to all first year French students and those who had taken French previously, was the counterpart of Le Circle Français.

The major project sponsored by Les Jeunes Jolies was sending a package to an orphanage in France. A bake sale was held to raise money for items in the package.

For the second consecutive year, Les Jeunes Jolies was the original sponsor of the Big Four Banquet, which brought together the Latin, German, Spanish and French clubs at a dinner held in November.

French Club members chose the theme "Continental Cabaret" for the banquet, held in the cafeteria. During the evening each language group was responsible for a part of the entertainment.

The cafeteria was divided into four sections with each language group providing appropriate decorations. The section decorated by French Club members was highlighted by bright flowers and glass perfume bottles.

This French Club, numbering approximately 25, met once a month with Le Circle Français. Under the supervision of Mrs. Anne Ayala, the club held separate bi-monthly meetings.

Club members also took part in the Latin Club-sponsored volleyball tournament in December.

Le Cercle Francais Encourages Further French Study

Participation in the Big Four Banquet in November marked the beginning of the year's activities for members of Le Cercle Francais, Bellevue High School's club for second-, third- and fourth-year French students.

Le Cercle Francais, sponsored by Mrs. Ruth Strube, was composed of nearly 70 members in its second year at BHS.

Another highlight of the year was the Christmas program for members of Le Cercle Francais and their special guests, Les Jeunes Jolies. The program featured French carols and a short play.

Le Cercle Francais' monthly meetings included a business meeting, a program and often a guest speaker. Officers met three weeks in advance to confirm program plans and work out details.

Mrs. Strube also sponsored La Societe Francaise, an honor society for advanced French students with above-average grades.

Scientists Supplement Classwork With Bi-Chemi-Phy

Dennis Hyatt eyes new worlds in a microscope

Bi-Chemi-Phy, formerly known as the Science Club, was open to all Bellevue High School students with an interest in science.

Although club members worked independently rather than under strict supervision, they were guided by Mr. Fred L. Crow, sponsor.

Bi-monthly field trips to various research centers and industrial sites in the Omaha-Lincoln area served to supplement Bi-Chemi-Phy activities. Among the places visited were the Gretna Fish Hatchery, University of Nebraska, SAC Headquarters at Offutt Air Force Base, a missile base and the nuclear reactor at Hallam, Nebraska.

As a special project, club members designed and constructed an exhibit for the Bellevue Science Fair.

Through Bi-Chemi-Phy, members discovered the importance of the scientific method, and learned to apply scientific procedures to their best advantage.

Students who were interested in photography organized this year for the first time to establish the Bellevue High School Camera Club.

The club's first meeting was held in the school auditorium where the students were given a lecture on the history of photography and the club's purpose.

Club members were given the opportunity to learn more about the camera and photography and, after a short lecture, they were given a tour of the school's photography equipment. Mr. James Van Hatten, assisted by Mr. John K. Miller, they attended a lecture on the club's purpose and its advantages.

Emoclew Members Welcome Parents and New Students

Welcoming new students to Bellevue High School was only one of the tasks performed by members of the Emoclew Club this year.

They acquainted newcomers to BHS with school policies, organizations, teachers and students. Emoclew members escorted parents to seats and served them coffee on Parents Night at the Bellevue Benson football game in Chieftain Stadium.

They also guided lost parents to various rooms in the school building the night of open house during American Education Week.

Membership in the Emoclew Club was open to all BHS students with a desire to make new students feel welcome to the school.

Safe-Teens Stress Automobile Safety and Courtesy

Working in conjunction with the Omaha Red Cross, the Bellevue High School Safe-Teens stressed automobile safety and courtesy throughout the school year.

Membership was open during the complete year, with the goal of 100 per cent membership of the student body. They sponsored a coke dance in February with the admission fee being the purchasing of a membership card.

During Safety Week, held during the Easter vacation, Bellevue was responsible for one of the major projects in the Crossroads arcade in Omaha.

During the local Driving Rodeo, sponsored by the Bellevue Jay-Cees, Safe-Teens conducted a safety check of the cars in the downtown Bellevue area.

Also they planned a hayride and a spring picnic at Mandan Park as extra benefits for its members.

I think this tire is sort of flat, exclaims Cathy Arnold, Safe-Teens president, during car check.

Red Cross Membership Drive Begins Year's Activities

Bellevue High School's chapter of the American Red Cross began the year with the annual membership and fund-raising drive in November.

The drive was climaxed by a coke dance held in the Student Lounge. The second period class which contributed the most money during the drive was admitted free.

Another fund-raising competition was held between the three classes at BHS. In a contest to see which class had the most cents, sophomores, juniors and seniors dropped pennies in the appropriate jars in the Student Lounge. The junior class won in a close contest.

Bellevue cooperated with other Omaha-area high school chapters in sponsoring the annual Criss Crosser dance, held at Peony Park in April.

Bellevue Future Teachers at the 1941 Convention

Future Teachers Initiate New School Traditions

A new tradition was initiated at Bellevue High School this year when the Future Teachers of America staged their first annual all-school talent contest in the Little Theatre community.

Involved members made it possible for the FTA to engage more members than in previous years. The talent show and various bake sales held throughout the year were sources of money for club dues and a field trip in May to a teachers' college.

Bellevue FTA chapter awarded members for the first time this year. An achievement of two hundred service points, earned on an hourly basis by being a teacher, was the only requirement for a pin.

Sponsored by Mr. Jack Dredla, the Bellevue FTA participated with other from Omaha area schools for the District Teacher Convention in October.

Members became better acquainted with the teaching profession, listened to talks given by various district speakers. They also visited an elementary school and aided teachers with such chores as typing tests and grading papers.

Editorial note: The following is a list of the members of the Bellevue FTA chapter who have earned the two hundred service points required for a pin.

FBLA Boasts Larger Membership and More Activities

Activities this year for the Future Business Leaders of America were more numerous and varied than ever before. The first project for members was a contest for decorating the doors of the business rooms. A cash prize was awarded to the winner.

They also contributed to the Christmas spirit of Bellevue High School by decorating a tree in the business halls.

A tour through the Omaha World-Herald newspaper building was another highlight of the year. Some of the meetings featured guest speakers.

Miss Ruth Broderson and Mrs. Corrine Jones who sponsored the club, were pleased with the interest shown in it. Students were eligible for membership in FBLA if they were taking two business courses and were interested in furthering their knowledge of business.

The purpose of FBLA was to stimulate and encourage students who were interested in business as a possible career. This year, membership was higher than in previous year.

Library Service League Promotes Student Interest

Working in their spare time during the school day, the members of Bellevue High School's Library Service League were kept busy aiding students and faculty in using the facilities of the library and material center.

The purpose of the league is to boost student interest in the school library.

Under the leadership of Mr. Louis Worm, BHS Librarian, the members checked books and magazines in and out, paced returned books on the shelves and helped teachers and students locate material for reference work.

The league is composed of students who have passing grades in school and show a definite interest in learning more about the library and its functions.

On Honors Night, Library Service League members received recognition for service throughout their high school years. As in previous years, a certificate denoted one year's service, while a pin was awarded for two years and a service key was given for three years work.

Debate Club Makes Radio and Television Appearances

Appearances on radio and television topped off the 1964-65 debating year for members of the Bellevue High School Debate Club.

Sponsored by Mr. James Gepson and Mrs. Joan Jensen, the club was able to establish itself as one of the busiest organizations at BHS.

Club members debated in front of speech classes to show the different techniques of speech in debate and they also spoke in front of the League of Women's Voters.

During Christmas vacation, club members held an informal party which proved to be one of the highlights of the year.

Debate Club was open to all debaters, with the only prerequisites for membership being a minimum amount of debate activity and an interest in the field of debate.

The club offered the chance for interested students to meet and discuss the strong points as well as flaws in their respective debate strategies.

BHS Athletes Form Effective Group in School Society.

"I'm just so thrilled to be here!" exclaims B Club member J. M. Mason, as he cheers BHS.

Physical ability was the prime membership requirement for Bellevue High School's only athletic organization, the B-Club. Members must have earned a varsity letter in one of the school's eight sports, which included football, basketball, wrestling, swimming, track, cross country, golf and tennis.

Lettermen put their talents to use when they operated concession procedures at basketball games, ushered at pep rallies and sponsored the annual fun night. Fun night, held in the spring, included a varsity-faculty basketball game and a Pep Club-B Club commando game. Proceeds went to the local "Dollars for Scholars" program.

Following traditional procedures, B-Club members elected their officers after football season. Working closely with sponsor Bill James, the executive council provided leadership for the sports-minded set.

Pre-Med Club Offers Varied Programs for Bellevuites

The Pre-Med Club was made enlightening and educational material available throughout the past year to Bellevue High School students interested in the medical professions.

Once a month their goal was to have at least one tour, lecture or film pertaining to some phase of medicine. A tour through Creighton University's School of Medicine and a visit to the Children's Hospital were results of their initial plans.

The activities of the Pre Med Club were varied in order to bring in every aspect of the healing process to its members. Medical professions, such as doctors, nurses, dentists, veterinarians, medical technologists and research biologists, were discussed varying degrees throughout the year.

Supervised by Mr. William Spellman, the Pre Med Club tried to introduce the medical field and its subsidiaries to BHS students and broaden their interests in humanity. The only membership requirement was an interest in some aspect of the medical field.

"A world of the unknown can be seen through the microscope," explains an intern to a club member.

Masquer Float Rates First in Homecoming Competition

Bill Cox, Masquers Club treasurer stresses an important article in their constitutional resolutions

Capturing first place in the club division of Homecoming float competition started the year well for Masquers, members of Bellevue High School's drama club.

Members were provided with an outlet for creative talent by producing the fall play "The Mouse That Roared," and the German Club's annual Christmas presentation, "Krippenspiele."

Various aspects of this work included experience in prop construction, stage setting, lighting and other areas such as make-up, publicity, costumes and directing.

Although Masquers did these jobs for enjoyment and personal satisfaction, they were working toward the goal of becoming Thespians. Points earned during a presentation were applied toward acceptance into this honorary drama society.

"Li'l Abner," the spring musical, was produced by Masquers in conjunction with members of the Bellevue High School Chorus. Other activities included attending professional plays at local theaters. The Masquers met bi-monthly under the joint sponsorship of Mr. Wayne David and Mr. Ernest Carriere.

Membership Initiations Highlight Year for Thespians

Membership initiations were among the high points of the year for the Bellevue High School Thespians, an honorary organization pledged to advance standards of excellence in all phases of dramatic arts and to create an active interest among BHS students.

Students were considered for Thespian membership only after they had earned a specified number of admission points. Opportunities for acquiring points presented themselves throughout the year as Thespians participated in the fall production, spring play, school musical and various divisions of the Fine Arts Festival.

Prospective members earned points in a variety of ways in addition to actually performing on stage. They received credit for publicizing plays, selling tickets and ushering.

The Drama Club triumphed over other organizations when their float received first prize in the club competition in the Homecoming parade.

Sponsored by Mr. Wayne David, the Drama Club met regularly with its executive council to review club progress and plan new activities.

'New Look' in Chiefette Uniforms Highlights 1965

Swinging purple pleats whirled into prominence, replacing the old straight styles and marking the beginning of the new look for Chiefettes.

Dedicated to generating school spirit, Chiefettes met once a week under the direction of Mr. Alan Barnard to learn new cheers and keep up with the athletic events scheduled.

Tradition called for the fall picnic during which the girls played touch football, enacted skits and satisfied their appetites with a pot luck dinner featuring fried chicken.

Ambitious Chiefettes also participated in the Chieftain tie and button drive, raised money for the treasury. The club members were also featured at the annual spring Sports Banquet sponsored by the Pep Club.

A new innovation this year was the gold merit award, a honor symbol awarded to any girl with 60 merits to her credit. Merits were earned by serving on committees, selling concessions, making posters, decorating the football field or taking part in any rally skit.

For her 60 merits Pat Smith

Cheerleaders Win Honors and Boost BHS Sport Spirit

Behind every major and minor sport at Bellevue High School were two squads of six purple and white clad yel-leaders.

Chosen in the spring of 1964, the varsity and junior varsity squads began after-school practice sessions immediately. Varsity members were rewarded for their efforts as they gained the distinction of being the only squad in Nebraska to win five blue ribbons at the Wesleyan University cheerleading clinic.

Although varsity cheerleaders met daily during seventh period, junior varsity members practiced twice weekly. Due to the conflicting schedules of basketball games and wrestling matches, the girls often split in number in order to represent each event equally.

To help organize their activities with the Pep Club the cheerleaders met each Monday with the Chiefettes to present new cheers and song ideas. All of the yells used by the cheerleaders were original and included suggestions from members of both squads.

All cheerleaders were required to maintain a 3.5 grade average throughout the school year, and were encouraged to limit excessive extra-curricular activities in order to allow for the large amount of time devoted to cheerleading duties.

Communication and Friendship Are Radio Club Goals

Through all kinds of weather, the club members worked keeping the antenna in good condition.

Radio Club members were given a better insight into the field of amateur radio when they journeyed to the Galaxy Corporation in Council Bluffs and the Hygain Antenna Plant in Lincoln.

The purpose of the club was to promote friendship between the students who have a common ambition to obtain an amateur radio operator's license, while at the same time providing a means of communication in case of an emergency.

The third-floor Ham Shack, Radio Club headquarters, was open to all interested parents during open house this year. Parents observed as seven members were able to contact operators in Mexico and Missouri.

The nine-member club, now in its third year at BHS, has acquired two complete receiving and transmitting sets and a 50-foot antenna.

Mr. Leland Sandvik acted as sponsor at the Radio Club's bi-monthly meetings. He also supervised various supplemental projects undertaken by the boys.

Bellevedettes' Bake Sale Helps Finance New Uniforms

With pom-poms blowing and feathers waving, the Bellevedettes danced through numerous half time shows during the 1964-65 football and basketball seasons.

This 19-girl drill team was organized in 1963 to give girls with dancing ability an opportunity to perform at athletic events.

Prospective members auditioned in the spring. Clinics were set up to teach hopefuls a trial routine, group co-ordination and techniques such as uniform marching and "guiding right," a skill needed to insure a straight line of dancers.

The Bellevedettes utilized daily first-period practice sessions to plan and perfect their routines. Additional practice sessions were called throughout the summer and during vacations.

New this year were the one-piece purple uniforms decorated with white fringe. White windbreakers provided protection against the cold weather during the football season.

A trip to Lincoln for a football game was the Bellevedettes' first out-of-town performance. The girls held a bake sale in the school lunchroom to finance additional windbreakers and pom-poms.

Bellevedette Kay Hatch moves through her intricate routine with a radiant expression before the audience.

Chiffon

Bellevue High School has many facets other than the teaching of math, science or English. No one will question that learning is the prime goal at BHS, but all will agree that the school has another function in addition to formal teaching.

By sponsoring such activities as school dances and plays, BHS encourages students to put their talents to work outside of school as well as in the classroom. In this way students can balance their efforts between scholastic and non-scholastic endeavors, and take a step toward organizing useful and stimulating lives for themselves.

Junior Jetty McDonald Reigns as Chieftain Princess

Chosen to reign as this year's Chieftain Princess was Junior Jetty McDonald. Runners-up for the title were Connie Curnow, senior, and Susan Dennis sophomore. Each candidate was selected by popular vote of her class.

Jetty received the highest number of votes from Bellevue High School students who bought their annuals during the first six weeks of Chieftain sales.

Three votes were given to students purchasing their yearbooks the first two weeks, while buyers received two votes each during the next two weeks. Students voted once for a candidate during the last two weeks of the sales campaign. During the annual sales, votes were recorded on large feathers in the Student Lounge to show voters which candidate was ahead.

Jetty served her second term as a homeroom representative on the Student Council this year, was a varsity cheerleader and a member of Spanish Club and National Honor Society.

Runner-up Connie Curnow was a member of the Chieftain staff, played the female lead in the fall production, "The Mouse That Roared," and reigned as the 1964 Homecoming Queen. For two years she was a varsity cheerleader and a member of Chorus and French Club. This year she also became a member of Thespians.

Susan Dennis, sophomore representative, was a B-Team cheerleader and a member of Latin Club. She also served as Sophomore Class president.

Students Re-enact Traditional Homecoming Ceremonies

Bonfire material cement mold

Tradition played an important role during homecoming week, September 21 to 26, as annual ceremonies were re-enacted.

Mystery, football players, clashing outfits and mourning gear were some of the signs which announced the arrival of this yearly celebration. A free ticket to the Homecoming dance was awarded to the fiftieth student who greeted a mystery player with the phrase "Beat Islanders!" Bright colors were worn to blind the mystery player while black attire mourned their defeat.

Flames roared and fireworks exploded at the pep rally Thursday evening as students circled the bonfire, cheering and chanting.

Friday afternoon the Homecoming parade was held in downtown Bellevue. Making up the parade were the queen candidates, cheerleaders, Pep Club majorettes, band and floats. With song titles as a theme for float competition, seniors captured first place with "G.I. Blues." "Swinging on a Star," the Pep Club entry, rated first in the club division.

Halftime activities at the game Friday include the coronation of the queen and a show by the band, twirlers and Believedettes.

Gold flower-filled baskets and a flowing fountain added a touch of autumn to the dance held Saturday night in the cafeteria. At intermission the King was announced.

BHS students and dates were assisted by the pep club and the Pep Club.

tain Princess candidate for this year and had the lead role in the fall production.

Bruce was a co-captain of the football team,
a three-year varsity letterman in track and a mem-

Barbara Bachman and Don Pflug Reign at '64 Sno-Ball

"Silver Bells" provided the atmosphere for the crowning of Barbara Bachman and Don Pflug, this year's Sno-Ball royalty.

After Jim Cramer, last year's king, crowned Don, the new king, crowned Barbara and presented her with a bouquet of red roses. The "crowns" were red Santa Claus hats trimmed in white.

Barbara was active as a Student Representative for two years and as a cheerleader for three years, and she also participated in intramurals.

Football, basketball, track and baseball highlighted Don's years at Bellevue High School. He was an all-state football player and a member of the B Club. Don was also a Student Representative and a member of National Honor Society.

Other royalty candidates were Marsha Brock, Chris Lund, Liz Madole, Jean Richardson, Bobbe Smith, Doug Barrett, Dennis Furby, Ron Harve, Doug Johnson and Bill Sage.

Candidates were selected by the seniors on the basis of their contributions to the class and votes cast by sophomores. The seniors determined which candidates became Sno-Ball royalty.

Students Have a "Sno-Ball" at Festive Winter Dance

Glowing trees and sparkling lights greeted guests as they entered the 1965 Sno-Ball at Bellevue High School.

Traditionally sponsored by the Senior Class the Christmas dance climaxed activities of the snowy season. Multi-colored bells were hung by the chimney with care in hopes that couples soon would be there. Teams of workers labored many hours to create this year's theme, "Sno-Bells."

During intermission, Master of Ceremonies Brent Tamm and Mistress of Ceremonies Corless Smith presented the candidates for Sno-Ball royalty. Last year's king, Jim Cramer, was on hand to crown queen Barb Bachman and king Don Pflug.

For entertainment the Blue Aces sang selected Christmas songs and a comedy teaming pair provided spirited mirth for the evening. Freshman students served cookies and punch to the Sno-Ball guests.

Fall Production Features Fenwickian Roaring Mouse

When the tiny (3 miles long by 5 miles wide) country of Grand Fenwick decided to wage war on the United States, the stage was set for the three-act comedy, "The Mouse That Roared." Staged in the Little Theatre, the play ran November 12, 13, and 14.

Actors, directed by Mr. Wayne David, and the stage crew, directed by Mr. Ernest Carriere, rehearsed nightly for six weeks before presenting the play to the public. Attendance reached sell-out heights as ticket sales soared and reservations were accepted.

Audiences were treated to bizarre comedy enveloped in an uproarious farce, as Grand Fenwick actually invaded the United States with its traditional weapon, the longbow.

After securing the O-bomb, the U.S. secret weapon, Fenwick gains a victory and the title of the most dangerous country in the world." The mouse" is a field mouse, a tiny native creature of Fenwick with the roar of a lion.

A cast party climaxing weeks of fun and hard work was held November 14, after the last performance of "The Mouse That Roared." Actors, crew members and make-up and costume committee members were among those attending.

The play was publicized through radio, newspapers and posters urging attendance. The Pep Band also led a parade of cast members in their costumes through downtown Bellevue.

Politicians and Pig Lovers Color BHS's "Li'l Abner"

Keeping in tune with the lively productions of earlier years, the Music Department of Bellevue High School chose "Li'l Abner" as the school musical for 1965. Opening March 25 in the Little Theatre, the show drew capacity crowds for three successive nights.

The hit concerns the citizens of Dogpatch, USA, when the powers that be in Washington decide that their mountain community is the most unnecessary town in the nation, therefore the perfect site for atomic bomb tests.

Only proof that Dogpatch does produce something useful can save the Yokums and the Scraggs from eviction. When Mammy Yokum comes forth with her famous Yokumberry Tonic, which is capable of turning weaklings into Atlases with one good swig, Dogpatch citizens breathe a sigh of relief.

Li'l Abner, the prime example of the success of Yokumberry Tonic, is taken off to Washington as Exhibit A for the Dogpatch cause. In addition to the reluctant Abner and his indefatigable girlfriend, Daisy Mae, the cast includes a pig-loving mountain Amazon named Moonbeam McSwine, Mayor Dawgmeat and the crafty General Bull Moose.

Cast members enact a scene from the musical.

Stage Director Carol Stadheim pores over the musical script.

To Six Outstanding Seniors

Selected by the Bellevue High School faculty on the basis of scholastic ability and contributions to the school, six seniors received the fourth annual Chieftain awards. These students represent the qualities of leadership, responsibility, independence and loyalty.

In 1964 Elizabeth Madole was one of two Cornhusker Girls' State delegates chosen to go to Girls Nation in Washington, D. C. As a senior she was a class officer and a Homecoming and Sno-Ball candidate. During her years at BHS Liz participated in the musical production and was a member of National Honor Society.

Mike Foster served as treasurer of the Student Council and was active as a debater during his senior year. He also distinguished himself as a Boys' State candidate and a member of National Honor Society.

As a senior Doug Johnson served as Student Council president and was selected as a Sno-Ball candidate. He was elected president of Le Cercle Francais in 1964, and he also took part in the 1964 spring production. Doug's other activities included debate, Thespians and National Honor Society.

Acting as class president, Jean Richardson led the senior-sponsored activities for 1964-65. She was active as vice-president of the Chiefettes and was a member of National Honor Society. In her junior year Jean was a Girls' State candidate and a participant in County Government Day. Jean served on the Image staff, was a Student Council member and was selected as a Sno-Ball candidate.

Track, basketball, football and intramurals helped round out Don Pflug's athletic activities at BHS. Don served his fellow athletes as co-captain of the 1964 Chieftain football squad and as president of the B-Club. As a junior he was selected for Boys' State and County Government Day. This year Don was a Homecoming candidate and Sno-Ball king. He was also a member of National Honor Society.

Bruce Harding was another co-captain of the Chieftain football team. His other activities included basketball, track and intramurals. Bruce played in the Chieftain Band and ensembles and was a member of National Honor Society and B-Club. He was a Boys' State candidate as a junior and Homecoming king as a senior.

Junior Money-Raising Projects Focus Toward Prom

The class of 1966 focused all activities this year on raising funds for the annual Junior-Senior Prom, held at the end of the year as the traditional salute to the graduating class.

Monthly coke dances comprised the main source of income, while class dues and money from sweat shirt sales and raffles made up the remaining revenue.

At the beginning of the year juniors were given PSAT tests to determine their intelligence and comprehension in the fields of science, mathematics and English.

The most talked-about item on the October agenda was the traditional selection of class rings which the juniors received in January. In addition to the standard ring, there was also a companion ring for students who preferred it.

Loyal juniors poured hours of work into the class float entry for the Homecoming Parade. The float entitled "Wipe Out," took third place in the contest.

Although the juniors sold many candy bars during the November AFS drive, they were unable to defeat the seniors and sophomores in the sales competition.

Junior Jetty McDonald was chosen by the student body as 1965 Chieftain Princess, an honor which the students traditionally award to a senior girl.

Planning her schedule for the coming year, Linda Liffman seeks the advice of Donald McDonald.

Bob Grice embarks for D.C.

One of the many tours was of the White House.

Highlight of the trip is the parade.

Seniors Triumph in AFS Sales and Float Competition

Taking first place in the Homecoming float competition started the year for Bellevue High School seniors. The float, entitled "G. I. Blues," was the result of much hard work and good organization.

The AFS candy sale was next on the Senior Class agenda. Seniors worked hard to make the exchange program a big success. A senior-sponsored student dance was held following the sale to announce the different winners; appropriately, the seniors won the drive. Rich Clayton and the Rumbles provided music for the dance.

The annual Christmas dance, the Sno-Ball was the seniors' winter project. The theme of the dance which was held on December 19, was "Silver Bells." Ron Pushcar and his Orchestra played for the event while the Belle-Aires and the Leatherslade Trio provided additional entertainment.

Because homeroom periods were eliminated this year, senior representatives were elected from English classes to form the Senior Executive Council. They worked closely with the class officers to promote unity and good organization within the class.

Another senior-sponsored project was the sale of "Chief-Tum" decals, in January. Money raised from the sale was put toward funds for a "senior gift" at the end of the year.

Honors Night, the Junior-Senior Prom, Baccalaureate and Commencement completed the high school careers of the members of the class of 1965. For them, high school, with all its excitement, homework, exams, dances, games, victory celebrations and pep rallies is now a thing of the past.

Sports

Passing the tremendous growth and newness of Bellevue High School, the school sports program expanded to include wider opportunities for more participants.

To create well rounded, healthy individuals, the sports curriculum revalued its byword, sportsmanship. This theme was carried throughout the season, encompassing a total of eight sports.

Encouraging intensive student participation, the intramural program made traditional sports open to the student body. This enabled students who didn't have the talent or time for interscholastic competition the opportunity to participate in competitive sports.

To supplement extensive athletic activities, facilities termed the largest and newest in the state were made available to BHS students.

BHS students were proud of their newly constructed gymnasium and football stadium, but most of all they were proud of the continuing high standards of sports and sportsmanship at Bellevue High School.

41-7 Lincoln High Victory Highlights Dismal Season

Stumbling through the first five games, Bellevue salvaged what otherwise would have been a disastrous season with impressive showings against four of the state's Top Ten rated teams in the latter half of the schedule.

Bellevue's attempt to end a three-year victory drought against Bishop Ryan fell short, as did the Chieftains' last minute field goal try as the squad lost the opener, 13-12.

The year's frustration reached its peak with a 7-6 defeat at the hands of Lincoln Northeast, rated number five in the state after holding the top spot for the seven previous weeks. A fourth-quarter drive and Bellevue's upset hopes were shattered on the Rocket 19-yard line by a fumble with 1:30 remaining.

The Northeast game was only one of five in which Bellevue was either tied or leading its opponents going into the second half. Bellevue's defense held the state's fourth-ranked Ben L. Riley to only 35 total yards in three quarters. However, the Burnies scored twice in the final stanza to pull out a 14-7 victory over the hapless Chieftains.

A 6-0 halftime lead against Lincoln Southeast vanished in the second half as the state's number six team scored a 14-6 upset over the visiting Bellevue gridders.

Fumbling the ball eight times, the Chieftain offense failed to move against Omaha North, rated fifth statewide. Bellevue entered the third quarter with the score knotted at 6-6 as the Vikes went away to win, 20-6.

Entering the second half with a 0-0 tie, the Chieftains made four fumbles, part of the season's total of 39, while dropping the Homecoming contest, 12-0, to Grand Island.

The most devastating defeat inflicted on the Chiefs in several years came on the home field of perennial rival, Westside. Scoring on the first play from scrimmage, the Warriors went on to intercept three Bellevue aerials, recover five Chieftain bobbles and maul the Bellevue secondary for four scoring passes, en route to an impressive 39-0 win.

Two weeks later Bellevue ran up against an inspired Omaha Tech team which scored on the opening kickoff and the first play from scrimmage paving the way for a 34-7 victory.

Bellevue's moment of glory came on a 41-7 shellacking of the state's number nine ranked squad from Lincoln High School. Bruce Harding scored 28 points, plunging for three touchdowns and booting four extra points, a school record. Fullback Roger Strubbe scored twice, and speedster Mike Sado scored the game's final points as the Chiefs put the offense in gear, grinding out over 400 total yards.

The 41 points marked the highest point total scored against any of the state's Top Ten teams. In addition, it was Bellevue's most decisive victory since the 53-14 slaughtering of Omaha Central in 1963.

Senior guard-linebacker Don Pflug was a stand out despite the team's 1-8 record and eighth place finish in the conference as he was selected to both the Metropolitan Conference and State all-star squads.

Junior Chieftains Subdue First Three in 4-2 Season

Displaying a tight defense and a potent offensive machine, the Chieftain Junior Varsity burst up a 4-2 record with a schedule of predominantly Class A opponents.

The Junior Chiefs mauled a visiting Council Bluffs Thomas Jefferson squad by an impressive 33-6 margin.

Traveling to Fremont, the underclassmen's squad squeaked by the Tigers, 12-8. This marked the only game in which any of the school's football teams, varsity, junior varsity or reserve were touched for a safety.

The next victim for the Chieftain axe was Lincoln High. They were scalped, 20-0, by the Bellevue squad.

For want of an extra point, the Lincoln Southeast game was lost. A bit of controversy about the officiating arose from a play in which a pass was caught by a Bellevue end in the end zone, but the whistle had blown and the play was called back as the Chiefs went down to their first loss of the year, 7-6.

Unable to cope with Bellevue's unbalanced line strong right, the Portsmouth Bluedevils went down to defeat, 38-7. The squad representing Bellevue's southern neighbor played the entire game over-shifted one man as the alert Chieftains' offense pounded the Bluedevil left side for six touchdowns.

Bellevue played host to the undefeated Junior Rockets from Lincoln Northeast. Their status remained unchanged at the final gun as the Chieftains succumbed, 24-12.

The squad, led offensively by Junior Mike Sadej at halfback and Sophomore Kirk Koehler, outscored their opponents by the margin of 121 to 52. Leon Bresley, playing at the middle-linebacker slot, was the mainstay of the defensive squad which held offensive thrusts to a touchdown or less in all but one contest, the 24-12 loss to Lincoln Northeast.

Coaching this year's victorious team were Mr. Wendell Filkins, Bellevue world history teacher and Mr. Jerry Ludwig, BHS industrial arts instructor and track coach.

Chiefs Score 4 Shutouts While Compiling 4-3 Record

Attempting to build confidence and experience into their abilities, the Bellevue Reserve football team played a total of seven games this year with a final record of 4-3.

The Chieftains had an auspicious beginning, promptly losing their first game to Omaha Tech by the tight score of 13-6.

The Eagles from Central came up against an inspired Bellevue defense which did not allow an opposing back over the goal-line as the Chiefs won their first game, 13-0.

The Chieftains won their second game also by a shutout. This whitewash was scored against the Lincoln High Links, 36-0.

The young squad extended their outstanding defensive work by clobbering Beveridge 37-0 for their third consecutive shutout.

The spell was broken against the always strong Creighton Prep Junior Jays. The Jays dominated the game from beginning to end as they thrashed the Chieftains, 27-7.

The Knights of Archbishop Ryan strutted into Bellevue's athletic stadium with a perfect mark through five games. By the final gun the Knights were reduced to squires as the Chieftains white washed Ryan 49-0.

The Chieftains' final game was against the South High Packers. Bellevue was defeated soundly by the tune of 20-3.

The defensive team showed spurts of defensive invincibility, scoring all its wins on shutouts. The squad outscored their opponents by the margin of 151 to 60. Coaching the squad were Mr. Dick Tannahill, health science teacher, and Mr. Neal Prince, biology instructor and reserve basketball coach.

Chieftains Attempt to Rebuild; Compile 2-19 Record

Veteran Bellevue basketball coach Mr. Jack Wood found himself in the coaches' nightmare, a squad with no lettermen. Thus, he had to go with members of last year's reserve squad, incoming sophomores and transferees.

Offensive scoring power and rebounding strength came with the transfer of 6' 8" Bob Houck from Virginia to the Chieftains. Bob led all Bellevue scorers with 132 points, thus compiling a 13.7 conference scoring average. Bob also gained honorable mention from conference coaches for All Metro honors.

The scoring duties for the rest of the team were well divided between Chris Larson who potted 21 against Lincoln Pius X, Lee Torrens, scoring 24 in a losing cause against Omaha Westside in district competition. Dick Held who totaled 21 in the same contest and Kirk Koehler. Koehler, the elusive sophomore guard, was a consistent performer from the line, icing one of the Bellevue victories with a string of charity tosses against South.

Although compiling a 2-16 record, the inexperienced Chieftains made good showings against many of the state's basketball powers.

In a contest against seventh ranked Creighton Prep, the Chieftains lost by only four as the Junior Jays took advantage of Bellevue fouls to win 51-47. The second meeting saw the Chiefs fight to a three point deficit at the end of three quarters only to have 11 free throws force a 53-42 defeat.

Bellevue lost a heartbreaker to Lincoln Northeast in overtime. The hot-shooting Chiefs scored point for point with the Rockets until the last seconds of the overtime before succumbing to the 6th ranked visitors 64-61.

Bellevue's victories came against Hastings, in which Lee Torrens took scoring honors with 17 markers and Omaha South. Houck bagged 19 points against the Packers in the victory which clinched seventh place for the Chieftains in the Christmas Tournament. The Chiefs failed to win any of the nine conference games and finished in 12th place.

Dick Held and Terry McClure join their Prep opponents in the championship round.

Sophomores, Jayvees Gain Experience Despite Losses

1965 marked the first year in Bellevue sports history that the basketball reserves were divided into two separate teams.

A junior varsity under the direction of Mr. Neal Prince consisted of both sophomores and juniors who were not quite up to varsity skills and experience, and a sophomore team which provided competition for tenth-graders not making the junior varsity grade. Mr. David McCracken coached the sophomore squad.

The junior varsity played its games before the varsity, generally beginning play by 6:45. The sophomores played a more limited schedule on Saturday mornings.

Although the junior Chiefs could only manage two wins in 15 outings, they made impressive showings against some of the state's best jayvee and reserve basketball squads.

The Chiefs came within five points of Lincoln Pius X, but had to settle for a 45-39 defeat. The Bellevue defense was well-oiled in a 39-35 defeat by Omaha South.

In a weekend series, the Chieftains lost two tough games. The first came against the visitors from Lincoln High who escaped with a 49-41 victory. It took an overtime to defeat the Chiefs the next night in a 44-43 loss to the Omaha North Vikings.

After a 71-39 drubbing by Creighton Prep, the Chiefs came back for their first victory of the season against the Warriors from Westside, a school whose varsity was rated second in the state, by a 52-47 margin.

Although the reserve basketball teams showed little on the victory side of the ledger, they gained much valuable experience.

Dave Eyster breaks through for a bucket in one of many intra squad games played by the Jayvees.

Injuries Bury Harrier Inaugural into League Battle

Chieftain harriers withstood an onslaught of injuries to top runners to produce a 1-7 record during their first season of competition in the yearling Metropolitan League.

The luckless Chiefs ran at full efficiency only once, during an early conquest of Creighton Prep and Tech. From that point the 2.1 mile course took its toll, as only one member of this victorious squad, Gary Luthby, competed in the district and conference meets.

Defeating only Tech and second-year school Omaha Beveridge, the Chieftains managed only a twelfth place showing at both the district and conference championships and failed to qualify for the state competition.

Whitewashed At State Meet

Bellevue's two-year-old swimming team, competing with the high caliber swimmers of the Metro Conference, managed a 4-12 record in 1965. They placed tenth in the conference but were shut out at the state meet, where they placed thirteenth.

The Chieftain tankers showed tremendous improvement over last year's yearling squad as they set new records in all 13 events.

Sophomore Paul Barker set records in the 100-, 200- and 400-yard freestyle. Bill Ruefle was the pacesetter in the 200-yard individual medley, the 100-yard butterfly, the 50- and 100-yard breaststroke. Bill was also a member of the record-setting 200-yard medley relay team which also consisted of Scott Willson, Randy Waters and Chuck Morris. Jim Hall, Scott Willson, Steve Helle, and Chuck Morris teamed to set a new mark in the 200-yard freestyle medley.

Scott Willson set records in the 100-yard backstroke, 40-yard freestyle and 50-yard backstroke. Willson was also a member of the 200-yard medley and freestyle teams.

Chuck Morris set the 50-yard freestyle mark and Mark Keeler holds the diving record.

First-year Bellevue swimming coach Mr. Robert Guthman can expect a strong team next year as he loses only Chuck Gray, Steve Helle and Randy Waters through graduation.

The new South High pool is used by Mr. Robert Guthman's charges in a daily hour-long workout.

Wrestlers Runner-ups in Metro; Finish 4th at State

Bellevue, with and inexperienced grapplers, hit hard by transfer and graduation, worked their way to a runner-up finish in their first year of Metro Conference wrestling competition, and went on to earn fourth place rating at the state meet.

The Chieftains opened their defense of the state title with only two lettermen, in the persons of Bob Holmes and Chuck Witherspoon. However, impressive showings by last year's reserve wrestlers at the big meets made Bellevue a major power in the sport.

The Chiefs totaled a 10-10 record, placing third in the Metro Conference and fourth in the state. A fifth place was taken by the more and freshmen grapplers at the Omaha Tech Invitational.

A pin by Senior Don Harnish at heavyweight provided the difference in Bellevue's initial dual on the schedule as the Chiefs edged a lightly-regarded Boys Town, 24-22.

The Eagles of Central ran into a virtual blizzard of falls as the Chieftains recorded eight pins, winning a score of 51-2. Only a tie by Jim Himeic prevented a shutout.

Danny Parker, South High Invitational king at 127 pounds, provided the only surprise when the Chiefs met Lincoln High as he lost 11-8. Pins by Glen Woodard, Mike Saunders, Scott Barker and George Salisbury provided the cushion for a 29-15 Bellevue victory.

Bill Butts, Mike Saunders, Danny Parker, and Dennis Furby led Bellevue to an upset victory over state runner-ups Omaha Tech with pins as the Chiefs sneaked by, 26-20.

Consecutive losses to Lincoln Northeast, 21-19 South, 25-19 and Thomas Jefferson, 23-21, provided a decisive end to Bellevue's unbeaten string extending to over a year. The slump also marked the first defeat suffered by Bellevue under Coach Dick Tannahill.

The Chiefs again found the winning trend as they ran over the Junior Jays of Creighton Prep 39-6. The Prep points came as result of ties tagged on Jim Himeic, Larry Gaddis and heavyweight George Salisbury.

Strength in the heavier weights brought a Bellevue victory over the Warriors from Westside by the tune of 30-10.

The highlight of the Bellevue dual season came with the 24-22 Chieftain victory over the state champion Bishop Ryan Knights. A 26-17 rout of Lincoln Southeast ended dual competition for the young Chiefs.

Bellevue managed to qualify six for the state meet as Dennis Furby, Chuck Witherspoon and George Salisbury captured district titles and Dan Parker, Bill Butts and Mike Sanders finished second in their classes.

By the finals of the state competition, the number of qualifiers had melted to two. Bill Butts managed a second place prize and Dan Parker was Bellevue's only champion.

Senior Bill Butts waits for the action to begin action in a 39-6 victory over Boys Town.

The timers table for Bob Holmes as he takes third in the district meet.

Bellevue's junior varsity wrestling team, under the direction of Mr. Fred Crow, compiled the most impressive records of any Chief squads in any varsity or reserve sports.

The Chieftains racked up 11 wins in 13 outings. The team consisted of a total of eight juniors and 11 sophomores, all of whom alternated through the 12 wrestling weights.

The Boys Town Cowboys were drubbed by the Chiefs in the season's initial match, 41-13. Central gained the dubious distinction of being the only team shutout by the Junior Chiefs as they were thoroughly mauled, 56-0.

The win streak reached three with a 43-12 clobbering of Omaha North. The string was snapped against the Links from the Capital city as they stopped the Chiefs 30-18.

The winning ways were found again as the Chiefs powdered the Omaha Tech Trojans, 46-10. Chieftain grapplers had to work for their next victory, as they crept by Fremont 26-22.

Lincoln Northeast was the next squad to fall under the Chieftain axe 31-19. Again a three meet winning skein was throttled in the next outing, this time to Omaha South, 31-20.

An easy win against Westside, 34-15, paved the way for a close victory over Council Bluffs Thomas Jefferson, 27-22.

Omaha Bishop Ryan, whose varsity wrestlers took the state title, fell to the Chieftains by a decisive 32-13 margin.

The second biggest point total run up by the Chiefs was scored against Creighton Prep's Junior Jays, who were downed 49-5.

The Chiefs closed out their season with a 26-16 triumph over the Lincoln Southeast Knights. This extended the winning string to five while rounding up their eleventh win.

The sophomore squad also had a successful season, posting a 3-0 record. Wins were over Nebraska City, 30-18, Millard, 39-5, and Farragut 28-5. The success of these two underclassmen squads gives varsity coach, Mr. Dick Tannahill a potential state champion team.

McGoone, McArdle Aid Increase in Intramural Action

Although the boys' gym was crowded, the boys' gym was crowded with intramural action.

Bellevue began its second year of intramural action with the addition of tennis and track to a schedule already crowded with football, basketball, volleyball and softball.

Also two years old was the colorful, sarcastic and sometimes biting commentary by the still unknown but far from anonymous personage Mr. Gregg McGoone.

Mr. McGoone made a few mistakes. For instance, he predicted a football team named the Mets to finish at the top of the league. The Mets ended up dead last. Similarly, a boys' basketball team termed the Dunces was slated for last but finished second.

A schedule was organized consisting of three leagues of 30 games each, a 3-3-3 league for boys without a seventh period study hall and a 3-30 league for all girls. Games were played in both the boys' and girls' gyms with teachers acting as officials.

The leaders of each of the boys' leagues met for the general championship after the regular schedule had ended. The Crushers won the football championship, the Rogues, volleyball, and the Po dunkers basketball.

Girls' champions as decided in tournament action were the Outlaws in football and volleyball and the Court Jesters in basketball.

Mr. Richard McArdle was the intramural organizer for the second straight year. In addition to serving as referee, he was rumored to have been a substitute for Mr. McGoone.

"Practice makes perfect," or they say, as in intramurals tried to prove the veracity of the adage.

Roger Struble attempts a backhand shot to get a score in vigorous intramural volleyball competition.

The road to a better future runs right through the middle of Bellevue. It is being constructed daily with the help of interested citizens who provide the means for a better education for today's students.

Expert teaching, advanced study techniques and bigger and better facilities all aid in the development of tomorrow's leaders. Great plans are in the making, allowing students to reach for their ultimate goals.

To accomplish this, young lives spiced with eagerness, ambition and the will to be great and make a mark in the world strive to make dreams become realizations.

Only with help from those who sponsor new projects and cooperate toward future progress can the goals of Bellevue High School's students be fulfilled.

Yes, the road is long and often difficult, but those who have helped make this book possible realize the full potential of greatness which is fostered at BHS.

In its finality, Belvedere High School becomes a melting pot of backgrounds, beliefs and personalities creating a harmonious blend of customs. A multifarious student body is converged under one title, one institution, BHS.

Even as each year passes taking with it the gifts and attributes of a graduating class the aura of uniqueness of a specialness echoes throughout the halls of BHS.

Chieftain Supplement 1965

Golfers Attain 3-3-1 on Way to 7th Place at State Meet

The Chieftains opened the season with North at Dodge park, edging North with a score of 165-166.

Omaha Central was the first to turn back the Bellevue quartet with an overwhelming 154-162 advantage.

Senior Mike Glaze highlighted his season by scoring an eagle under par in the 150-171 victory over Omaha Tech.

In the last duel meet of the season Creighton Prep sliced Bellevue for a 165-163 loss.

Being their first year in the Metropolitan league, Bellevue achieved a fourth place in the Metropolitan Conference Meet, four strokes behind Omaha Tech and one stroke ahead of Omaha South.

At the State Golf Tournament, the Purple and White grabbed a 7th place berth. In this meet Ted Gibbs shot fourth best with a score of 76. Senior Gregg Gilles, a 79 and Mike Glaze, an 83.

Mike Glaze tees off hoping for an eagle under par in match against Prep.

Seniors Houck and Brooks Lead Harriers; 3-2 Season

Cindermen were forced to spend the first few weeks of practice striding Bellevue's second floor halls due to previously unsolved drainage problems on the track.

Paced by Senior Jim Brooks, five Chieftain records were smashed. Brooks pitched the shot 57 feet at the Doane College Invitational and hurled the discus 157 feet 11½ inches.

Bruce Harding, a senior, raised his vault standard from 11 feet 7 inches to 12 feet 5 inches. Junior Lee Torrens destroyed Bill Pickavance's 6 feet ½ inch high jump mark, replacing it with 6 feet 2 inches.

Chet Ogborn, graduating this year, set a new record in the mile with a 4:35.

The Purple and White 880 relay team saved the day for the Chieftains as they rallied against a fast Westside four overcoming them with seven points and boosting Bellevue to a 67-65 victory.

Omaha Tech, a high ranking power in the Metropolitan Conference forfeited to Bellevue, thus contributing another scalp to the Chief's belt.

The first exclusive Bellevue meet, the Chieftain Invitational, saw Bellevue scoring 20 points.

Participating at State with six entries in eight events, Bellevue finished with seven points and achieved twelfth place out of 23 others in class A competition.

A quick sprint a few seconds sailing freely through the air—and a mighty effort; such is a broad jumper's life.

Bellevue's Netmen Peg Seventh Place in Metro-Meet

Bellevue's varsity netmen completed their third year of inter-scholastic competition. Coached by Mr. Roger Barry, the Chieftain tennis team finished the season with a record of 4 wins and 6 losses.

Despite their record, '65's team came in seventh at the Metropolitan Conference Meet, but did not place in the Nebraska State Tennis Meet.

The impressive action of senior Lowell Stuebinger aided the Chiefs in winning series against Beveridge and Tech 4-1, Ryan 5-0 and Westside 3-2. At the annual All-Sports Banquet, Lowell was named Bellevue's most outstanding tennis player.

Varsity meets, consisting of three singles and two doubles, were played by the following: first singles, Lon Stuebinger; second singles, Lowell Stuebinger; third singles, Skip Echert. First doubles teammates were Ted Spring and Rich Hansen; second doubles, Sam Stooksberry and Rich Grover.

Mock Trial is Highlight for 22 at County Government Day

A mock trial held by juniors from Bellevue and the three other Sarpy County schools highlighted County Government Day at Papillion on April 14. One student posed as an actor charged with drunken driving. He was arrested by another acting as the sheriff. A defending attorney pleaded his case, but he was convicted by the judge.

The 22 students participating from Bellevue had just completed a week of registering, petitioning, holding conventions, campaigning and finally voting. All had participated as members of one of the two political parties to which they had been appointed: the Federalists and the Nationalists.

The Nationalist Party was sponsored by Mr. David Langhorst; and the Federalists were headed by John Fiala, who accompanied them to Papillion

Four Juniors Attend Girls' and Boys' State in Lincoln

In order to get a working knowledge of their government and to learn more about the heritage of their state, four outstanding juniors were given the opportunity to attend Girls' and Boys' State held at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln June 12-18.

The three boys and one girl were chosen by the American Legion and its Ladies' Auxiliary from a group of 17 girls and 14 boys nominated by the faculty. The candidates were picked on such qualities as leadership, character, health, poise and personality as well as the candidate's ability to present himself to an audience.

Week-long activities giving governmental instruction were highlighted by a trip to the capitol speeches by well-known personalities and experience in state and local government procedures.

At the beginning of the week an election was held. The participants who did not win an office were appointed to one, and each proceeded to his or her office, learning its function and how it operated.

Mr. Robert D. Ryan, Junior class sponsor headed the faculty committee in charge of nominating students, while the American Legion sponsored the event itself.

Extra Reveals Comedy and Drama in Newspaper Office

The world premiere of "Extra" by Miss Doris Minney was presented in the Bellevue Little Theater May 6, 7, and 8.

The plot intertwines comedy and drama in the parts of the catty Miss Bylina Bigelow and the exemplary Anna Lynn.

The story, staged in the Banner-Herald news paper office, concerns a campaign to track down gamblers operating in the town and to clear the name of the paper, rumored as working in conjunction with the 'bookies.

When Editor-in-Chief Damon leaves town, his illustrious assistant, Mark Morland, assigns Anna

Lynn to the job of locating the gamblers. When Bylina attempts to steal the right to story, Anna remains impassive. She simply relinquishes it to Bylina and calmly presents her "hunch" concerning certain Herald employees.

After Anna suggests a tape recorder be placed in the lounge, a conversation between two unscrupulous employees is overheard. The fun is over for these two, but for Anna and Mark, who discover suddenly that their feelings for each other are mutual, it has just begun.

The play was directed by Mr. Ernest Carriere and Mr. Wayne David.

BHS Excels at Fine Arts Festival and Music Contests

Bellevue received four superior ratings at the Fine Arts Festival held April 2-3 at Lincoln. These were awarded for acting, interpretive public address, extemporaneous speaking and the presentation of an excerpt from the play "Pygmalion."

Bellevue also managed to earn five excellent ratings for entries in prose reading, poetry reading original public address, informative public speaking and participation in a general discussion.

Entries in the contest were divided into three categories: drama, art and music. Mr. Wayne David and Mr. Ernest Carriere sponsored those entries from the Speech Department; Mr. Nelson those from the Art Department; and Mr. Allen Barnard the single entry from the Music Department.

In the District Music Contest, held April 23-24 at Fremont High School, Bellevue music students competed against students from eight other schools.

Members selected from the Chorus under the direction of Mr. Allen Barnard and of the Band under Mr. Charles Sargent, competed in the contest.

Of the 23 entries, Bellevue received a total of 15 "one" ratings. The Chorus scored six excellent ratings out of its seven entries, while the Band garnered eight "one's" and six "two's."

Bobbe Smith and Ron Harvell Coronated Prom Royalty

The crowd hushed as the Grand March came to an end, and the Master of Ceremonies read the names of the two candidates selected as Mr. and Miss Bellevue for the annual Junior-Senior Prom held May 15.

Bobbe Smith, crowned Miss Bellevue, has been quite active throughout her senior year. She served as captain of the cheerleading squad and carried the load of Business Manager for the Chieftain. She also found time to write for the Tom Tom and to participate in intramurals. Bobbe was also a Homecoming candidate.

Ron Harvell, Mr. BHS, was co-captain of the football team and lettered in track. He was a member of chorus and B-Club as well as a Homecoming candidate.

Following the coronation, Bobbe and Ron led off the Royalty Dance to the strains of the Prom theme written especially for the event by Bill Menzies, the foreign exchange student.

Other royalty candidates were Jenefer Falt, Jo Al Moellendorf, Linda Kearns, Christie Lund, Liz Madole, Jeannie Richardson, Corless Smith, Doug Barrett, Mike Foster, Dennis Hyatt, Doug Johnson, Brent Tempest, Ron Vosika, and Randy Waters.

Hard Work, Crystal Palace, and Pages Highlight Prom

As the guests entered the 1965 Junior-Senior Prom, they found themselves not in a cafeteria, but in a 'Crystal Palace.' At the door, they were presented a program for the evening by a tiny page.

In the center of the room, a fountain spilled water over its sides, while above it a mirrored sphere revolved, throwing tiny droplets of light upon the ceiling.

While a few couples sat at tables clothed in linen and set with rose and candle centerpieces others danced to Ray Backman and his orchestra.

At one end of the room a throne draped in satiny golden-rose awaited the announcement of the new royalty by Master of Ceremonies Scott

Barker.

Only a few hours ago these guests had worn shorts, sweatshirts, cut-offs or shifts while relaxing or getting ready for the Prom. Now they wore billowy formals, long gloves, dinner jackets and stiff white shirts.

Wide-eyed freshman hostesses served the guests finger sandwiches and punch, envying them but realizing at the same time that their own Prom was not so far away.

As the Prom came to a close, Anne Bailey Prom chairman, surveyed the memorable scene with a twinge of pride.

Tri-Valedictorians Consider Happiness, Success, Future

More than 3000 persons sat watching as over 400 graduating seniors marched into the Senior High Gymnasium.

For the first time in the history of Bellevue, three valedictorians spoke at Commencement. Mary Lou Ribble chose happiness as her topic, Joan Butler spoke on success, and Amy Bouska talked of the future.

Then the foreign exchange student, Bill Mansito, delivered a short speech, at first jokingly and then seriously, about his life in the U. S.

Next the Senior Choir paid its tribute as the audience listened and waited.

Scholarships were presented; the class presentation was made; diplomas were handed out.

Finally the entire Senior class came to its feet for the Tassel Ceremony. As the group moved their tassels from the left side to the right, Jean Richardson, Senior class president, announced their official graduation.

As they stood there, perhaps they remembered the Reverend Robert Spellman's Baccalaureate sermon two nights before and asked themselves his question: Did they intend to become a part of the problem of today's world or a part of the solution?
